Last evening the "General Committee of Democratic Whig Young Men" met at the Broadway House, which was filled with whig politicians, all agog to hear the result of a report that was to be made of a sub-committee appointed some two months ago, to request Mr. Maxwell, Collector of the Port, to remove from office the democrats in the Custom House. There was great discussion in the bar room during the evening; and the partisans of Scott, Webster, and Pillmore were loud in the praises of their respective favorites, and down on the pretensions of the others. But to the committee up stairs.

The committee of three appointed on the motion of Mr.

Charles Riddle, and headed by Alderman Ely, presented

Charles Riddle, and headed by Alderman Eig. presented their report, in which they stated that they had an interview with the Collector of the Port—that he treated them in a gentlemanly manner, but gave them to understand that they were very unwelcome visiters. Mr. Maxwell that they were very unwelcome visiters and several members deduced as most outrageous the doctrine of the whig party being pledged to an individual, and contended that this was making Mr. Filimore the whig party. It was unged that Mr. Filimore, at his election to the office of Vice President, declared against re-election, and in favor of one term. His letter, too, in reference to Mr. Tyler, was quoted, in which he prepounded the same doctrine. Several friends of Mr. Filimore were astounded at the secont of the committee in reference to Mr. Maxwell, and Mr. Campbell, lately his private secretary, and it is said he is about to be married to his daughter, turned pale at what he considered so injurious to the prospects of Mr. Filimore, and some said they had no doubt Mr. Mr. Maxwell. He said Mr. Maxwell Let we the Mr. Maxwell Let we have the doctrine of the committee of the was doctrine to reference to Mr. Maxwell. He estimate the maxwell and the doctrine defend.

Mr. J. H. Walsh, Police Magistrate, then moved the following resolutions:

Resolved. That the General Committee of Democratic Whig Young Men have no confidence in Hugh Maxwell. Esq., as a proper person to fill the office of Collector of the port of New York.

Resolved, That a copy of the above resolution, together with a copy of the report of the special committee appointed to wait upon Mr. Maxwell, be sent to the President of the United States.

The resolutions were lost by a vote of 36 against, and 20 in their favor. The majority of those against them are Custom House officers.

Mr. Charles Riddle them moved that the report of the special committee be published.

This resolution was also lost, on the ground that the publication would only widen the differences in the whig party.

One of the committee then asked for a pen, when Mr.

One of the committee then asked for a pen, when Mr. A vote was then established by the majority, that no report of the proceedings be published, unless by the consent of the majority.

When the news came down to the bar-room, there was when the news came down to the Custom House officers.

ay nea the news came down to the bar-room, there was great excitement there, and one of the Custom House offi-cers, who voted in the majority, said he was sorry that he was compelled to do it, for he did not like Fillmore. It is expected by the minority that Mr. Fillmore will repudiate the answer of Mr. Maxwell to the committee. The whole affair has created a complete "rumpus" in the committee.

First.—On Thursday night, about eleven o'clock, policeman Townsend discovered a fire in the cabinet shop of James Kilpatrick, at No. 227 West Twenty-first street, and gave the alarm to Engine Co. No. 16, who were promptly on the spot, and very soon axtinguished the fire, without causing any material damage.

ANOTHER FIRE.—About half past twelve o'clock yester-day morning, a fire broke out in a grocery store No. 8 Avenue B, occupied by Charles Keicher. Captain Hart and Assistant Captain Cameron, with their reserved force, aided in subduing the flames and preserving the property. The fire originated in the cellar. Damage about $125. Singular Accident to a Horse.—Yesterday forenced two horses of the Harlem Railroad cars, got frightened as they were detached from the car, and started off at a tremendous rate down the Fourth avenue, until one of them ran with such violence against a post, that its head was completely snashed, and it fell dead instantly. The other was soon caught.

Mithous Meximo.—Yesterday afternoon, about three o'clock a geweral meeting of the members of the Methodist Episcopai Church was held at the Seventh Street Church. The exercises were opened by the reading of a portion of the scriptures, the singing of a hymn, and the offering up of a prayer. A discourse was delivered, the subject of which was principally the necessity of fisting and prayer, as has been ordained by the bishops in view of the approaching general conference, when certain questions pertaining to their ministerial character and responsibility are to be settled, when a new election to fill the offices, and the appointment of new editors, will take place, and when general plans of extended usefulness will be submitted for adoption. At the conclusion of the discourse, a subscription was taken up; after which the assembly dispersed. which the assembly dispersed.

SHAMEFUL DESERTION.—About ten o'clock on Thursday night, a fine male child, apparently one or two months of age, was found wrapped in an old plaid shawt, and lying on Pier No. 20. East River, by officer Donnelly, of the Second ward. Had the child not been discovered shortly after it had been abandoned by the mother, it probably would have become the prey of huge wharf rats that infest our docks. It was taken to the Almshouse.

Police Intelligence.

The Assault upon Mr. J. P. Gage.—The policemen, Cramer and McGran, who were on Thursday arrested, charged with a violent assault upon Mr. J. P. Gage, were the charge at the Court of General Sessions. Policeman Savage, who is also implicated in the matter, was yesterday arrested and will be held to ball, he having, with the other accused, waived an examination.

Jirrest of a Fugitive.—A woman named Stearns was yesterday arrested as being a fugitive from Philadelphia, where she stands charged with grand lareeny and receiving stolen goods. The complainant in the case is Mr. James Mason, of No. 252 South Second street. Philadelphia. The accused was sent back for triel, in charge of officer Keefe, of the Chief's office.

Grand Larceny.—Officer Sineback, of the Twentieth ward, yesterday arrested a man named Selah Oakley, charged with having stolen $129, in bank bills, from the cabin of a sloop lying at the foot of Thirty-ninth street. North river. The money belonged to Mr. Dewitt C. Ross, of Brooklyn, and $117 offic was found by the officer, sewed up in the pantaloons of the accused. The balance was found in his pocket. He admitted his guilt, and was locked up by Justice McGrath for trial.

Jirrest of Young Burglars—Officer Reader, of the Fourth ward, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, detected two Irish boys, named Edward and Joseph De Lancy, in the act of forcing an entrance into the clothing store of Brooks & Brothers corner of Catharine and South streets. The raccals had removed one of the window shutters, and kroke a pane of glass, when detected. They were taken before Justice Lothrop, and committed to prison to await an examination.

Kews Courty Court or General Sessions—Before Judge Moore and Associates —The People against Mary Collins, indicted for petit larceny in stealing a collar from Miss Hoyte, of the value of two dollars. This cause attracted considerable interest and curiosity from the peculiar circumstances of the case. The defendant, it seems had been a servant in the family of Mr. Henry Leavett, and about the time she left, some articles had been lost. It appeared in evidence, that after she left, Mr. Daniel Leavett (father of Henry Leavett), called at her house and searched it for the lost articles. The day after Mrs H. Leavett procured a search warrant and an officer, and made a research. The day after Mrs Called on Mrs. L., and went with the chambermaid to a closet, where the soiled clothes were kept for washing, and there, behind a bandbox, the collar was found and delivered to the chambermaid, and by her to Mrs. L. Mary then brought suit for defamation of character by Mr. and Mrs. L.; and after her suit was brought the parties went before the Grand Jury and found this bill against her. Upon the trial a number of witnesses were examined, occupying the court nearly a whole day After the summing up of counsel and an impartial charge from the Judge, the jury gave of not guilty—standing eleven for acquittal upon verdict going out of the room.

Ours.Chowled Trinders.—Assistant Capt. McKinney, of the Third District Police made a report to the Chief vosterday, of a house in Hicks street near Pacific which is at present occupied by about thirty-five families, among which the most load-house diseases are prevalent. Many are prestrated with the small pox, some with the ship fever, spotted fever, and other contagious maladies, making the place a perfect pest house. Several persons are now lying dead in the place. The property is owned by Jacob Frost. Eq.

Mysterious.—On Thursday afternoon, some workmen engaged in excavating a cictern in the rear of a new building in Hicks street, corner of Fred estruck upon a building in like a citern in the rear of a new building in Hicks street, corner of Pacific, struck upon mahogany coffin about three feet under ground, which appeared to have been in that position but a short time. The coroner was informed of the circumstance, and will make an investigation to-day.

TASTE FOR THE FING ARTS —Constable Mundell, of the Figh ward, yesterday arrested a man, named William McBonaid, at his residence in builth street, charged with having, on Thursday night last steller a fine oil pointing, valued at $125, from the house of crimic heriton No. 40. West Kinetecath street. New York. The accused was brought before Justice Smith and countried for xamilouting.

TROTTING.—The season for trotting on Long Island is upon us, and its opening day—Thursday last—was one of the most beautiful that could be desired by the patrens of the turf. The air, being purified by the storm of the twe previous days, was exhilarating and invigorating in the highest degree. There is promise of great sport this season; all the old celebrated nags, with many new ones, have entered, and will appear. The neighboring cities and towns have furnished a number of splendid nags, and already there have been engagements made, in purses and stakes, amounting to $8,550, to come off during the present and succeeding months. This is unparalleled in the anand succeeding months. This is unparalleled in the annals of trotting.

On Thursday, there were two matches on the Centreville; but the track being heavy, and the horses out of condition, the races did not afford the gratification anticipated. The first match was between two Williamsburg mags, named Lady Briggs and Monte Cristo, mile heats, in harness. They had three heats—the mare winning the last two. Time over three minutes in each heat. The second race was between Centreville and Lady Haynes, mile heats, to wagons, for $400. Lady Haynes won the race in two heats. Time, 3:07—2:59½.

Works of Art Destroyed by the Late Fire
In Boston Head, alluding to the picture gallery which was destroyed by the burning of the Tremont Temple, in Boston, says:—This gallery was the private property of Thomas Thompson, Esq., a gentleman of wealth and a connoisseur in art.
Mr. Thompson, who is a Bostonian, has been upwards of twenty years in collecting the gallery.
His rooms, ten in number, in the Temple, wore situated over the main hall, and ref filled with valuable works of art. The catalogue embraced between six and seven hundred pictures, many of them originals, and of great value. This gallery also contained a large number of statuettes, each in itself a gom of art, and a study for an artist. Also many portraits of artists, all originals, and painted by themselves. Among the most valuable and famed of these paintings, as works of art, may be mentioned a venus by Titan—large and beautiful.
at one time exhibited in London, and valued at £5,000; Mars and Venus, by Nicholas Poussin—from the gallery of Napoleon, and very valuable. The Autumnal Festival, a magnificent work, also by Poussin—a work of great merit and valuable. Two large Battle Scenes, by Charles Lubrun. Venus and Cupid, by Dubuffe. Saint Ceellia, by Domenichine, a painter celebrated for giving life and expression to his portraits. Holy Family, by Gaspar fvanopstal celebrated as having painted the Descent from the Cross. This was one of the most beautiful in the collection, and highly prized. The Rape of Deganira, by Giorgio Giorgione, a celebrated Italian painter. A Lady at her Toilet, by Sir Joshus Reynolds, a most lovely and beautiful work. Presentation of Samuel, by B Murillo, a work of great merit.
Martyrdom of St. Martin, one of the most valuable in the collection. The Interior of the Cathedral of Milan, a large picture of great value, by Delorne.
A painting by Thomas Sully, after Titian's Danne, said to be the finest picture ever painted by Sully, considered by artists and connoisseurs, a gem. Also a Titian Danae, brought from N

[From the Boston Bee. April 2] Charles II. Brewer was, yesterday, brought before Justice Cushing, according to postponemut. As in pre-vious cases, a large number of spectators were in at-endance.

Mr. Hallett, senior counsel for the defence, stated that Mr. Hallett, senior counsel for the defence, stated that he was willing, providing the first complaint should be dismissed to waive an examination on the second complaint, and let the case go directly to the Grand Jury.

Mr. Parker, counsel for government, had no objection, if the witnesses in the first case could be secured on the second. He should also propose that the recognizances should be raised from $200 to such amount as the Court might set. The matter was one of much importance, and the attendance of witnesses should be secured to a certainty. No motives of friendship, or otherwise, should be allowed to induce witnesses to absent themselves.

Mr. Hallett remarked that Mr. Win. L. Brewer (junior counsel in the case, and brother of the defendant) knew nothing of the transactions of Charles H. Brewer until retained as counsel. He regarded this course as discourteous to that gentleman, and entirely new in the rule of courts.

Mr. Parker, revising that they wished to accomize Mr.

teous to that gentleman, and entirely new in the rule of courts.

Mr. Parker replied that they wished to recognise Mr. Brewer to testify knowledge which he possessed, independent of his being counsel. Such cases were not unprecedented, and it was no more than right.

Mr. Hallett maintained that such a requirement was a great infringement of rules protecting counsel, as well as extremely oppressive and discourtcous to a stranger in our midst.

Mr. Parker disclaimed any design to violate the rules of courts or the rights of counsel.

After some further discussion, the sum of $500 was fixed for the witnesses to recognise.

Mr. Brewer was here discharged on the first complaint, and ordered to find securities in $25,000 for his appearance at the Municipal Court, next Monday morning.

The Crops.

The Rio Bravo of the 10th ult. says:—Crops have never looked more promising on the Rio Grande, than this season; nor has there been so much planting done before since the war. Experiments prove that January is the proper month to plant in this country. An old resident informs us that he has never failed to make a crop when planted in that month. The February crops also look well at this time.

The Herriele Murders at the Straits of Magellan.

—We have received the Valparaiso Mercentile Reporter, of Feb. 25. It reports the arrival there on the preceding day of the British steamer Virago, ships Florida and Indefatigable, brigs Eliza Cornish and the Meteoro, bringing as prisoners all the rebols and pirates from the Straits of Magellan, of whose capture we have already given some account. It is stated that the rebels as soon as they had embarked on board the ships seized by them at the colony after putting to death Mr. Munoz the Governor, together with the clergyman established there, and eleven other persons including one woman, discovered that the loader Cambiaso had contrived a plan of getting rid of the greater part of them, for the purpose of having fover persons among whom to divide the plunder. They accordingly were resolved to be beforehand with the chiefs of the piratical party, and formed a conspiracy to seize them as soon as they should leave the Straits on their way to Montevideo. The plot of Cambiaso was to induce a great pertion of the party to enbark in a boat under some pretext, and then to sink the boat. More than forty persons had embarked in the beat, but the design being suspected, the boat was searched, and the suspicion was confirmed. This produced a reaction, a counter conspiracy was formed, and under the lead of the pilot of the Fiorida, and a segeant of the troops who had been stationed at the Straits, the exploit succeeded. Cambiaso was left in chains at Chiloe. Gold dust of the value of $75,000 was discovered, it being the greater part of what the rebels found on board the British brig Kliza Cornish, which they seized at the Straits. There were also recovered $5,000 hard dollars, and $80,000 in silver bars. The master of the brig Eliza Cornish and the owner of the Florida were killed, by order of Cambiaso; a passenger, sick in bed, was dragged upon deck and murdered, and other atroetities were committed by Cambiaso and his accomplices. QUARANTINE REQUIATION.

The chief officer of Quarantine (Guarda Mor) of this port has agreed that when a ship has lost a hand overboard, she shall be given partique on proof by her leg book and the testimony of two of the crew, that the death has occurred from that cause, and not from disease.

As three ships have been detained on their arrival here during this month, by a new application of the regulations to such cases (which unhapily are not of rare occurrence in small vessels of this trade) public notice is thus given of this arrangement.
